Draft - JUVENILE JUSTICE BILL

The Ministry of Public Security in collaboration with the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) has been engaged in extensive work on crafting a Juvenile Justice Bill in an effort to adequately provide Justice for Children.

As part of the consultation process, the Ministry is sharing with you the final draft of the Bill for your comments/suggestions. The Ministry would also be grateful for your views on the age of culpability, whether it should be at fourteen (14), sixteen (16) or eighteen (18) years.

Individuals are kindly asked to share their views and comments on the Ministry of Public Security Guyana facebook page.

Alternatively, persons can outline their views in writing to the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Public Security, Brickdam, Georgetown.

Please send your comments on or before March 1, 2016.
